Announcement: In Memory of George L. Trigg

We were saddened to learn of the recent passing of one of the founders of Physical Review Letters, George L. Trigg. We offer our heartfelt condolences to his family. George worked with Sam Goudsmit to launch the journal in 1958, and coauthored with Sam its first two Editorials. He left the journal for a few years, but returned in response to PRL's rapid growth. George remained Editor for nearly 30 years thereafter. For an account in his own words of his association with PRL, see his Essay: <http://journals.aps.org/prl/edannounce/PhysRevLett.101.210001>.
